Periodic Products Acquires Assets of VitalFlor Inc.

Fort Lauderdale, FL – September 5, 2012

Periodic Products today announced that it has acquired the assets of VitalFlor Inc. of Lake Mary, Florida. The acquisition includes three United States patents and one Canadian patent on the use of supravital fluorescence technology for pathogen detection, as well as the VitalFlor® and EZ-DX® trademarks.

“The VitalFlor acquisition represents an exceptional complement to our intellectual property portfolio,” said Joseph Laurino, President and CEO of Periodic Products. “We now have the unique capacity to both identify and purify contaminated water and soil with our technologies. This not only opens up new markets for Periodic Products, but offers people the ability to detect contamination early and quickly employ measures for remediation.”
